Dvořák's Requiem

If you are an enthusiastic amateur singer who would like to explore this unique choral work and brush up on singing technique over the course of a sociable and enjoyable day, this is for you!

Rare Opportunity

We have chosen Dvořák's Requiem because it is rarely performed, and it is even rarer for amateur singers to have the chance to sing it.

Dvořák himself intended this hoary, fire-and-brimstone work for an English-speaking audience, having visited England nine times. He conducted the piece at its premiere in Birmingham in 1891

Mentor & Soloists

Mentor for the day is Stephen Jones. He has worked with leading choirs as a conductor and chorus master.

Joining Stephen will be the amazing soloists Katherine Boyce, Aino Konkka, Sam Barton and Steve Hawksley.

Support Choir

City Chamber Choir is delighted to be partnering with the Robertsbridge Arts Partnership.

The Choir will provide singing support and is looking forward to meeting like-minded singers for an enjoyable day of singing.

Early Evening Concert

Not a singer? At the end of the day, the workshop singers will give an informal concert. Come along!

09:45 Registration
10:00 Workshop Starts
13:00 (Bring) Lunch
17:00 Workshop Ends
18:30 Concert

Morning & afternoon refreshments will be provided by the Salehurst Halt to purchase during the day & at the concert. If you wish to eat afterwards at Salehurst Halt in the evening, booking is essential, as it's so popular. Other nearby eateries include New Spice, The Ostrich and The George who's owner is also a singer!
